Application of Virgin America Contract of Carriage

The policies in this document apply to all services provided by Virgin America and Virgin America’s published fares, rates and charges. These policies explain the conditions under which Virgin America agrees to transport.

The Guest agrees to the policies in this contract by making a confirmed reservation.

Applicable terms and conditions are those in effect as of the date a Guest confirms a reservation for transportation on Virgin America, except that the fees for certain additional services that are paid by a Guest after a reservation has been made, such as for day of departure upgrades, pets, and unaccompanied minors shall be those fees in effect at the date the additional services are requested. However, the fees for additional baggage, changes, and cancellations shall be those in effect as of the date a Guest confirms a reservation for transportation on Virgin America

Virgin America Guest Services Commitment

Virgin America’s Guest Services Commitment sets forth Virgin America’s customer service commitments to our Guests.

The Virgin America Guest Services Commitment is accessible at www.virginamerica.com under “Our Difference” and then “Guest Services.”

Contract of Carriage

Virgin America has incorporated the provisions of the Guest Services Commitment into this Contract of Carriage.

Authority to Change Contract

No Team Member or representative of Virgin America may change, alter, or waive any provision of this contract without the written authorization of a Virgin America corporate officer.

Virgin America reserves the right to change, delete or add to any terms of the contract at any time without prior notice.

Claims Submittal

Claims for personal injury or death must be made within twenty-one (21) days after the event. Claims must be filed in writing to Virgin America's Guest Care Department, 555 Airport Blvd, Burlingame, CA, 94010.

Legal action premised or related to any claim for delay, damage, or loss must commence within one (1) year of the date of the incident.

ACCEPTANCE OF GUESTS

Children

Accompanied Children

Infants will be accepted for travel after the seventh day of age. An adult may carry an infant or child under the age of two (2) on his or her lap (a "Lap Child"). There is no charge for infants up to the age of two (2) not occupying a seat.

Children two (2) through four (4) years old must be accompanied by a Guest fifteen (15) years or older, and are required to occupy either an approved child restraint device (such as a FAA-approved car seat) or be comfortably restrained in an aircraft seat, using the provided seat belt. A seat must be purchased for a child who is at least two (2) years old at the time of travel, regardless of the child's age at the time the reservation was made or whether the child qualified as a Lap Child on the originating segment.

Unaccompanied Children (Minors)

Virgin America will accept Unaccompanied Minors for non-stop itineraries only. International and interline connections, and two point-to-point segments requiring a flight connection are not permitted.

Young adults fifteen (15) through seventeen (17) years old traveling unaccompanied are considered adults for travel purposes. However, if the parents or guardians wish the services provided to Unaccompanied Minors to be honored for their young adults we will do so.

Contract of Carriage

The charge for Virgin America's Unaccompanied Minor service is $75.00 per one-way direction of their journey.

Car Seats

Virgin America allows the use of FAA-approved infant safety seats secured to standard Guest seats.

An infant safety seat cannot take up an aisle or exit row seat. It may not be located in the rows forward and behind emergency exit rows. Guests must ensure that infant safety seats used during flight remain secured at all times, even when unoccupied.

An infant safety seat must be placed in a window seat, and may only be placed in a middle seat if the window seat remains empty or is occupied by another infant seat. An infant seat may not be placed between two people (including parents).

Seats manufactured between January 1, 1981 and February 25, 1985 must bear the following label: "This child restraint system conforms to all applicable federal motor vehicle safety standards."

Seats manufactured after February 26, 1985 must bear an additional label, printed in red, which reads: "This restraint is certified for use in motor vehicles and aircraft."

Note: Booster-seats, vest and harness type child restraint systems, lap held child restraints, unlabeled seats and seats manufactured before January 1, 1981 are not acceptable.

Pregnant Women

Virgin America will allow women up to seven (7) months pregnant to travel without a doctor's permission. Any woman who is seven (7) months pregnant or more must submit a document from her physician on official letterhead stating that she is fit to fly. This information must be available to a Virgin America Team Member at check-in. If the Guest is traveling roundtrip, the document should indicate that she will be fit for the return portion of her trip as well.

Contract of Carriage

Guests with Disabilities

Commitment to Guests with Disabilities

Virgin America will strive to provide Guests who have disabilities with dignified, professional and courteous service at all times.

Service animals

Service animals (seeing eye dogs and other animals that are appropriately certified by a physician or other credible person/agency, etc.) may accompany a Guest with a disability on a flight. Any of the following evidence is acceptable as proof of an animal's service status.

- An identification card for the animal;
- The presence of harness or markings on harnesses tags; or
- The Guest's credible verbal statement.

Guests with service animals will be seated so as not to obstruct another Guest's emergency exit path. A service animal will be put in close proximity to the Guest, such as underneath the seat in front of the Guest or held in the Guest's arms. However, no service animal may obstruct an aisle or an emergency exit path. Virgin America will not separate a service animal from its owner.

Service animals must be trained to behave properly in public settings. An animal that engages in disruptive behavior such as running freely, barking, growling, urinating, biting or jumping on other Guests has not been successfully trained. In such cases, Virgin America is not required to treat the animal as a service animal, and may deny transportation of the animal in the cabin of the aircraft. Service animals in training will not be transported.

Portable Oxygen Concentrators

Virgin America accepts certain carry-on Portable Oxygen Concentrators (POCs). POCs which have been labeled as tested in accordance with FAA standards and which FAA has identified as approved may be used in the cabin as discussed below. A POC which is not one of the named POCs and/or which does not bear this label may not be used in the cabin, but may be transported as an assistive device.

An oxygen concentrator is a machine that takes normal ambient air and, using a series of sieves, filters, and a compressor, removes nitrogen from the air, increasing the oxygen content.

We will only accept brands which have been approved by the FAA:

- AirSep FreeStyle
- AirSEP LifeStyle
- Delphi RS-00400
- Inogen One
- Invacare XPO2
- Respironics EverGo
- SeQual Eclipse

Emotional support animals

Emotional support animals may accompany a Guest with a disability on a flight. If Virgin America does not receive credible verbal assurance of the animal's function, Virgin America may request documentation to substantiate the Guest's disability-related need for the animal to accompany them in the aircraft cabin.

Guests may not travel with service animals that pose unavoidable safety and/or public health or safety concerns. Snakes, other reptiles, rodents, and spiders fall within this category of animals.

Acceptable forms of documentation include a letter from a physician, mental health professional, or vocational health manager. The letter may not be more than one year old, and it must include verification of all of the following information:

- That the Guest has a mental health-related disability; and
- That having the animal accompany the Guest is necessary for the Guest's mental health, treatment, or to assist the Guest (with his or her disability); and
- That the individual providing the assessment of the Guest is a licensed mental health professional; and
- That the Guest is under the care of the individual providing the documentation.

Wheelchairs

- One onboard wheelchair will be made available on board each aircraft at all times.
- Upon request, one collapsible Guest wheelchair will be accepted and placed inside the cabin and placed in the last row on the right side (looking forward from the back) of the aircraft, on a first-come, first-served basis. (For wheelchairs that have batteries, see notes below.)
- All other wheelchairs that cannot be accommodated in the cabin or overhead storage bins will be transported as checked baggage.
- An assistive device such as a wheelchair will take precedence over other Guest baggage. In the event that other Guest baggage is unable to be transported in order to make room for assistive devices, Virgin America will transport such baggage on the next available flight to the Guest's destination.

Battery-operated wheelchairs

Battery-operated wheelchairs/mobility aids are permitted on Virgin America aircraft, subject to size constraints of the cargo door. Wheelchairs/mobility aids will NOT be transported if it exhibits evidence of previous leakage or damage.

Batteries - Batteries are classified as either "spillable" or "non-spillable." As used below, Spillable batteries include those batteries that lack required "non-spillable" labeling by the manufacturer. Virgin America has a limited number of battery packaging units available at each ticket counter, which are available to Guests on first come, first served basis. All batteries must, upon visual inspection (including removal, if necessary, by a qualified Team Member), reveal no obvious defects. All batteries must meet applicable requirements of 49 CFR Part 173 for transport. In addition,

Non-Spillable Batteries

Non-Spillable Batteries must meet the provisions of 49 CFR § 173.159 for non-spillable batteries and must be marked by the manufacturer as "NONSPILLABLE."

Spillable Batteries

Batteries lacking non-spillable manufacturer labeling and spillable batteries that cannot remain in an upright position must be removed from the wheelchair/mobility aid. If necessary a qualified Team Member will be made available to assist the Guest in removing the battery. The battery must be transported in strong, rigid packaging under the following conditions:

1. The packaging must be leak-tight and impervious to battery fluid. An inner liner may be used to satisfy this requirement if there is absorbent material placed inside of the liner and the liner has a leak proof closure;
2. The battery must be protected against short circuits, secured upright in the packaging, and be packaged with enough compatible absorbent material to completely absorb liquid contents in the event of rupture of the battery; and

The packaging must be labeled with a CORROSIVE label, marked to indicate proper orientation, and marked with the words “Battery, wet, with wheelchair.”

Guests requiring attendants

Virgin America may require an attendant for any guest if Virgin America determines that an attendant is essential for that person’s safety. Virgin America will use the following criteria in assessing whether a Guest requires an attendant:

- Is there a mental disability that makes the Guest unable to comprehend or respond appropriately to safety instructions including the safety briefing?
- Is there mobility impairment so severe that the Guest is unable to assist in his or her own evacuation of the aircraft?
- Is there a severe hearing or severe vision impairment such that the Guest cannot establish some means of communication with Team Members?

Guests not requiring attendants

Virgin America will not require an attendant if all of the following conditions can be met:

- The Guest has a method of communication sufficient to receive a safety briefing; and
- The Guest is able to assist in his or her own evacuation of the aircraft in the event of an emergency; and
- The Guest is able to comprehend and, if necessary, respond to safety instructions from Virgin America Team Members; and
- The Guest is able to travel to aircraft bathrooms on his or her own accord with minimal assistance from Team Members.

If Virgin America determines that the Guest requires an attendant, but the Guest believes that she or he is capable of traveling without an attendant, Virgin America may require an attendant – either a Virgin America Team Member or other attendant selected by Virgin America, or an attendant selected by the Guest. In this situation, Virgin America will not charge for the transportation of the Guest’s attendant.

Other Equipment

Incubators and stretchers are not permitted in the aircraft for Guest use nor carried on board, however, they may be used per the Guest’s physician’s direction prior to departure and upon arrival at either connecting or destination locations. The Guest, traveling companion, or attendant is responsible for setting up the concentrators when used during these periods. The oxygen bottles on board are for use by the crew only in accordance with aircraft and medical emergencies

ACAA Regulations

The U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT) has issued regulations implementing The Air Carrier Access Act of 1986 (ACAA). These and other safety-related regulations address air travel by persons with disabilities and include provisions concerning the physical facilities and services to be provided to Guests with disabilities.

Virgin America makes every effort to comply with the DOT’s rules, the purpose of which is "to prohibit air carriers from discriminating against qualified handicapped individuals." It is important to note, however, that FAA safety regulations take precedence over individual airline policies for carriage of Guests with disabilities.

Complaint Resolution

If a person with a disability has a concern or complaint concerning their treatment on or by Virgin America, a Virgin America Complaint Resolution Official (CRO) is available to discuss such concerns with the Guest. At least one CRO will be made available at each airport served by Virgin America, either in person or by telephone.

To reach a CRO, contact a Virgin America airport supervisor through any Virgin America Team Member.

Allergies

Virgin America recognizes that some Guests are allergic to nuts, and that exposure to nuts can result in dire, or even fatal, consequences for Guests with the most severe allergies. Virgin America cannot guarantee an environment free of any allergies, including peanuts, peanut dust, peanut oil, or peanut remnants. Guests with severe allergies should advise Virgin America prior to travel.

Denied Boarding

A Guest may be voluntarily or involuntarily denied boarding in the event of an oversold flight. Please see section on “Denied Boarding Compensation” in the Fares, Travel Credit and Refunds section of this document.

Refusal to Transport Guests

Virgin America may refuse to provide transportation to any Guest, or to remove any Guest from its aircraft in certain situations including but not limited to the following:

- Whenever such action is necessary to comply with any government regulation, security directive, or any governmental request for emergency transportation in connection with the national defense or other requisition for space.
- On the basis of safety or security, or when the transportation of a Guest would violate the Federal Aviation Regulations. (Note: This is not to be confused with denied boarding situations whenever it is necessary to comply with government regulations.)
- When such an action is necessary or advisable due to weather or other conditions beyond Virgin America's control (including but without limitation acts of God, force majeure, strikes, civil commotions, embargoes, wars, hostilities, or similar disturbances), including the need to restrict seating capacity.
- Any Guest who refuses a search of person or property for explosives or for deadly, controlled, or dangerous weapons, articles, or substances.
- Any Guest who, in the sole judgment of Virgin America, previously has engaged in conduct intended to defraud Virgin America, including but not limited to in the purchase of or claims regarding tickets, baggage, and Elevate credits.
- Any Guest whose conduct is disorderly, offensive, harassing, abusive or violent, or:
 - a. Commits, or threatens to commit, any act which would be detrimental to the safety of any Virgin America flight and/or its Guests or Team Members;
 - b. Appears to be intoxicated or under the influence of illegal drugs;
 - c. Attempts to, or has been known to attempt to, interfere with any member of the flight crew; or
 - d. Refuses to obey instructions from any flight crew member or to comply with federal regulations or security directives.
- Any Guest who is not wearing both top and bottom apparel. Further, clothing that is offensive or might interfere with the safety of the flight or safety of other Guests is prohibited.
- Any Guest over the age of five (5) who is not wearing shoes, unless for medical reasons.
- Any Guest who fails to comply with the Virgin America Contract of Carriage.

- Any Guest who requires medical oxygen. Oxygen, as a compressed gas, is classified as a restricted article that may not be carried by passengers aboard aircraft. Virgin America does not provide medical oxygen on any of its aircraft. Oxygen is provided on an emergency basis only. However, Guests may bring aboard ventilators, respirators, continuous positive airway pressure devices, and portable oxygen concentrators which do not contain compressed gases or other hazardous materials and which otherwise comply with the requirements of Part 382 of the Federal Aviation Regulations.
- Any Guest who is unwilling to comply with seating requirements under the Additional Seat Purchase policy as specified in this Contract of Carriage. Failure to enforce or willingness not to enforce its Additional Seat Purchase policy for a passenger traveling on a given flight does not preclude Virgin America from requiring such passenger to purchase two seats on a subsequent flight.

In enforcing these Refusal to Transport guidelines, Virgin America will fully comply with the requirements of Part 382 of the Federal Aviation Regulations for the transportation of Guests with disabilities, including that:

- a. Virgin America will not limit the number of qualified Guests with disabilities on any flight.
- b. Virgin America will not require a medical certificate, or impose any condition, restriction or requirement for a Guest with a disability that would not be imposed on a Guest without a disability.
- c. Virgin America will not refuse to transport a qualified Guest with a disability solely because the disability results in appearance or involuntary behavior that may offend, annoy or inconvenience crew members or Guests.

All Guests are asked to refrain from engaging in any conduct that would authorize Virgin America to refuse transport under these Refusal to Transport guidelines. The sole recourse of any Guest refused carriage or removed en route for any reason specified in this section shall be recovery of the refund value of the unused portion of his or her ticket as provided in the Denied Boarding Compensation section below. As an express precondition to the issuance of any refund, Virgin America shall not be responsible for damages based on the refusal to transport of any kind whatsoever.

Check-in Requirements

Guests are required to check in on the web or at the airport via kiosk or ticket counter at least thirty (30) minutes prior to departure, or as otherwise published on the website, and must be at the boarding gate at least fifteen (15) minutes prior to scheduled departure time.

Baggage must be checked at the airport at least forty-five (45) minutes prior to flight departure. Due to distance and baggage travel time, certain airports may require a baggage check-in time greater than forty-five (45) minutes. Please refer to the Virgin America website for specific requirements.

Contract of Carriage

Electronic Surveillance of Guests and Baggage

The airport security checkpoint is intended to prevent or deter the carriage of weapons, explosives, incendiaries, or other deadly or dangerous weapons or material by Guests and other persons aboard an aircraft or into the sterile area.

Since shortly after September 11, 2001, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) has been responsible for the operation of airport security checkpoints in the U.S. As a result of TSA and other regulations, Guests must submit to electronic surveillance of themselves and their baggage.

Smoking

Smoking is not allowed on any Virgin America flights in compliance with Federal law.

Federal law prohibits tampering with, disabling or destroying any smoke detector in an aircraft lavatory.

- If a group cancels its reservation prior to 45 days from departure, a full refund will be made to the original form of payment. When a cancellation is made less than 45 days from departure, the group forfeits all monies.
- The names of all traveling Guests are due within seven (7) days before the date of departure.

Advanced seat assignments may be made at time of reservations.

Pre-Assigned Seats

Seats can be assigned online or by calling Virgin America Reservations. Seats will be assigned according to the cabin purchased (First Class, Main Cabin Select or Main Cabin).

If a Main Cabin Select guest chooses either seat 3C or 3D there is a very rare possibility that Virgin America may need to reaccommodate that guest into another Main Cabin Select seat or other available seat on the aircraft. The unlikely event that would require such a move is if a guest with either a service animal or a fused/immobile leg is in need of those seats.

Stopovers

Stopovers are not permitted on any published fare. A stopover is any voluntary interruption of the Guest's journey at an intermediate location that exceeds four (4) hours.

- To transport a Guest who, because of his or her particular disability, would be unable to travel without the purchase of additional space on the aircraft; or
- When necessary to transport large musical instruments or electronic audio/video, medical, or other sensitive equipment unsuitable for carriage as checked baggage.

It is the Guest's responsibility to notify Virgin America of a unique seating need. Making a change to a reservation may result in receiving a credit “file” for future travel on Virgin America.

Unless a reservation indicates otherwise, credit for future travel is valid for transportation for one year from date of initial use, or if unused, for one year from date of cancellation.

A Guest canceling a reservation will be entitled to travel credit for future travel on Virgin America. The travel credit is valid within 12 months from the date of cancellation.

Fare Cancellation Fees

Main Cabin: $50.00 per person for cancellations made on the Virgin America website and $75.00 fee per person through all other channels including the Virgin America call center. If the travel credit is not used to book an itinerary within twelve (12) months from the date of change or cancellation, all travel credit is forfeited.

If a flight is cancelled that was purchased using Elevate points, the points will be re-deposited into the Guest’s Elevate account for a $50.00 re-deposit fee.

In the event the Guest does not present the confirmation code and no record is located by Virgin America, Virgin America has the right, in its sole discretion, to deny transportation.

Denied Boarding Compensation

Voluntary Denied Boarding

In the event of an oversold flight, Virgin America will solicit volunteers for denied boarding compensation, and shall advise them if they are in danger of being involuntarily denied boarding and, if so, the compensation that Virgin America is obligated to pay if they are involuntarily denied boarding. Guests who are voluntarily denied boarding will be offered accommodation on a case-by-case basis, to be determined in the sole discretion of Virgin America Team Members staffing the flight. Accommodation may include, but is not limited to, rebooking on another flight (either on Virgin America or another airline) to the same or nearby destination, travel credits, hotel, or other accommodations.

Involuntary Denied Boarding

- When a flight is oversold and volunteers have not been found, Virgin America will involuntarily deny boarding to the last guests to check in for the flight.

BAGGAGE

General Acceptance

The United States Government requires that baggage tendered for transportation either as checked baggage or as carry-on baggage will be subject to inspection for security reasons. Guests and their baggage are subject to inspection with an electronic detector or other inspection devices with or without the Guest's consent or knowledge. If items unacceptable for carriage, as determined by the United States Government, its designees or per this Contract of Carriage are found the Guest or the Guest's baggage may be denied transportation.

Acceptable Articles

Virgin America will accept for transportation as checked or carry-on baggage those items or personal property which are necessary or appropriate for the use of the Guest for their trip.

These articles must be enclosed in a sturdy, durable container suitable for transportation by air (i.e., suitcases, clothing bags, trunks, etc.). Cardboard boxes and other nonstandard suitcases will be accepted but must be checked with a limited liability release tag affixed to them.

Conditionally Acceptable Articles

Other items which are not well-suited for transportation (with or without Virgin America's knowledge) are accepted only at the Guest's own risk. In such cases Virgin America will not be liable for damage, loss or spoilage of the items. A list of fragile, irreplaceable and perishable items can be found in the baggage liability section of this document. Virgin America may, in its discretion, refuse to carry any fragile or perishable goods.

Minimum Check-in Requirements

All Virgin America baggage must be checked in at the airport no later than forty five (45) minutes before departure or as otherwise posted on the Virgin America website. Checked baggage must have an identification tag, legibly bearing the Guest's name and contact information, to be placed on the outmost side of the bag or container.

Security rules provide that no Guest may check in their baggage on any flight for which he/she does not hold a confirmed reservation.

All Guest baggage will be accepted for check-in anytime of the day, but no later than forty five (45) minutes before departure.

Carry-On Baggage

Each Guest is allowed to carry onboard one piece of carry-on baggage and one personal item. This is in accordance with Virgin America's FAA-approved carry-on baggage program.

Please see the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) website at www.tsa.gov for TSA's most current permitted and prohibited carry-on items.

A personal item includes, but is not limited to a briefcase, purse, laptop, tote bag, infant bag, reading material, umbrella, shopping bag or any form of child restraint. A child restraint seat may be used onboard the aircraft as long as the child restraint displays an FAA certification sticker on the back panel of the seat as described in the “Acceptance of Guests” section above.

Any assistive devices such as crutches, canes, and walkers may be carried onboard and will not count as a personal item. Canes must be stowed on the floor at the Guest’s seat so as not to impede an evacuation.

At least one collapsible wheelchair may be carried onboard. The Inflight Team will fasten the wheelchair in place for the duration of flight. If room is unavailable to stow an additional collapsible wheelchair or a non-collapsible wheelchair in the cabin, it will be priority checked and retrieved at the destination city. Please see the “Acceptance of Guests” section above for more details.

Essential medication and/or currency should always travel on the Guests’ person and should never be checked.

Dimensions and Weight

Carry-on baggage is limited to a maximum of 16 pounds and the dimensions may not exceed an outside linear measurement of 50 inches. For example, 10 inches in height + 16 inches in width + 24 inches in length equal an acceptable 50 inch linear measurement. The carry-on bag must be able to fit comfortably in an overhead bin or under the seat in front of you, so as to not obstruct the evacuation process during an emergency. Overhead bin Guest space is limited, so please plan accordingly.

Any baggage exceeding the above limitations will be handled as a checked bag. An additional fee may apply if you are over the number and weight allotment granted for check-in.

Musical Instruments

Large oversized items or musical instruments may be secured in a Guest cabin seat, and the Guest will be charged the going fare for that seat. Maximum weight for such items is 180 pounds.

Small instruments may be carried onboard if space permits. If a cabin seat must be utilized, Guests will be charged the going fare for that seat.

Contract of Carriage

Pets in the Cabin

Only dogs and cats may be carried in the cabin.

A pet confined to a container, will be accepted as long as the container fits properly under the seat. The pet container must not be stored in front of an emergency exit row or bulkhead row, and only one pet is allowed per container. There is no limit on the number of pets that may be carried in the cabin.

Pets cannot be accepted in First Class due to limited space under the seats.

Pets cannot be accepted in Main Cabin Select due to the fact that this cabin exists in the bulkhead row and the exit row only, both of which prohibit pets in carriers.

All pet owners must present a veterinary certificate dated within the last thirty (30) days, verifying that the animal's shots are current and that the animal is more than eight (8) weeks old.

The pet carrier's dimensions may not exceed eighteen (18) inches in length plus fifteen (15) inches in width plus eight (8) inches in height. The carrier and pet combined cannot weigh more than twenty (20) pounds, and counts as one personal item within the carry-on baggage allowance.

The fee for pets in the cabin is $100.00 per one way direction, per pet.

Pets cannot be accepted for guests traveling on interline & international itineraries.

Virgin America does not accept pets of any kind as checked baggage or as cargo.
